

Agroforestry Consultancy Services – Richard Moore

I can assist you to use trees on your farm. For example, I can help you with planning what species will grow, design options for combining trees with farming and principles of tree management.

With 30 years experience in agroforestry and farm forestry I can provide a wide range of skills and services to individual landowners and community groups interested in the use of trees in more productive and sustainable agricultural landscapes.

My skills:

From my base in Western Australia I can assist with:

- Connecting people to information and support services on agroforestry.
- Assisting landowners to plan and implement their agroforestry plans.
- Planning and organising field days and farm walks.
- Arranging and delivering education programs on agroforestry – eg. the Australian Master TreeGrower Program.
- Working with teams to develop shared goals and agreed actions.
- Managing projects – planning, implementing, budgeting, monitoring, evaluating and reporting.
- Using the Commonwealth’s MERI framework (Monitoring, Evaluation, Reporting & Improvement) in project management.
- Monitoring changes in social capacity – eg. using the Most Significant Change technique.
- Facilitating training and planning sessions.
- Preparing funding applications.
